DON'T YOU JUST LOVE COUNTRY FOOTBALL?

Gwen O

On a recent Thursday evening I was over at the Garfield football oval with my granddaughter at Netball practice and grandson at Oz kick.

The whole recreation reserve area, courts, footy ground, Clubrooms etc was buzzing with different groups of children having a kick, and netball teams practising their netball skills. Coaches and parents were there helping with the teams and were followed by the older teams training, all on a lovely Autumn evening. Added to all that the committee and helpers served up a good meal for the netballers, footballers, coaches and parents after the training.

Forward on to Saturday 10th May, which happened to be the day before Mother's Day, once again when you drove or walked to the footy ground area it was just packed with people of all ages. It was like a grand final atmosphere. Garfield were playing Nar Nar Goon who were the premiers last season in Seniors and other tiers of the competition. Cars were parked all around the oval, and good food and drinks were available.

On the same day in the Footy Clubrooms, the Garfield Football Netball Club had their yearly ladies day function with over 120 women enjoying a fun day with lovely afternoon tea and drinks. Comedian Bec Killick entertained the guests at the function.

After the Senior match many people stayed to watch the Garfield and NNG Clubs play a match between their over-35 teams. The ground lights were turned on and the guys still play good football.

Congratulations to all the people who work so hard to enable young people to be involved in the Garfield Football Netball Club. It all takes so much work and we, the parents, spectators, and participants appreciate the effort of all who are involved.

GARFIELD FOOTBALL AND NETBALL CLUBS LADIES' DAY 2025

On Saturday 10th May, and coincidentally the day before Mothers' Day, GFNC hosted their annual function in the Clubrooms. The event was fully booked out and had been for some weeks prior, following on from the high standard of the previous years.

Apart from raising much-needed funds for both Clubs, this was a way to enable then 'significant others' of the footballers, the netballers and female friends of the Clubs to meet and mingle without any responsibilities to spoil their afternoons.

The afternoon was again hosted by Darryn Ricketts, the consummate professional who managed to control, at times, a rather rowdy audience.

Several raffles were held with prizes being donated by local businesses – as shown in the pictures, the two main supporters being Sohl and Ultimate Indulgence.

A part of the activities was a very funny game of "Celebrity Heads", with some of the suggestions being as obscure as the eventual answers.

Everyone was given a glass of something bubbly on arrival and thereafter drinks were at bar prices; I believe the Prosecco stocks took a real hammering.

Hot and cold, sweet and savoury finger food was served throughout the afternoon.

The absolute highlight of the event was our star guest, the risqué comedienne Bev Killick, many of us had seen her at the Pakenham Pink Cricket Day three years ago and were already familiar with her work and style of humour. By the time she had finished I do not think there was a dry eye in the house (tears of laughter), and she is certainly not for the faint-hearted, but she is always willing to help out a good cause.

Thank you to Pauline Tenace and all your helpers, the room looked amazing and the little goodie bags at every place setting were an added sweet touch.

“We have been so looking forward to performing at the Garfield Theatre” was a quote by one of the members of the Elton John & the Divas Band appearing at the Garfield Theatre on Saturday 24th.

What a performance they did! First half of the show was the great vocals of “Diva” Mary Ann Van Dan Horst. Then after the interval out on stage came Matthew Hadgraft with his great tribute to Elton John. Matthew played keyboard and both singers were backed by a great 5 piece band.

Thanks Susie & Fred!

Thanks Fred & Susie!

JABEZ JANES OF CANNIBAL CREEK

Heather Arnold hamold@dcsl.net.au

Jabez Janes operated a beer house, on the south side of Cannibal Creek, in what is now North Garfield, from 1866. He had an eventful life with what appears to be little success on either a personal or financial level. This is the story of Jabez and the mother of his children, Maria Goldsmith.

Jabez was born in England around 1823 and he arrived in Victoria on the Ameer in March 1852. Also on the ship was a man listed as A. Goldsmith. The two men had their occupation listed as labourer. Two years later in July 1854, 20-year-old Mary Ann (also called Maria) Goldsmith and her 18-year-old sister Elizabeth arrived in Melbourne on the Ontario. Maria and her sister were born in Kent, were domestic servants and a note on the shipping record says that Maria was engaged by Mrs Woodruff of Brunswick and Elizabeth by Mrs Bathurst of Heidelberg.

Somehow, Maria met Jabez, perhaps through his shipmate Mr A. Goldsmith. What we do know is that in December 1855 Maria gave birth in North Melbourne to a baby girl whom she named Agnes Maria. Agnes' birth certificate states that the father was John William Goldsmith, a blacksmith, born in Kent and the mother was Maria nee Richards. However, when Agnes married James Charles Bowden in 1873 her marriage certificate lists her surname as Janes and her father as Jabez Janes. Her 1891 death record lists her maiden name as Janes. I suspect that Jabez was the real father and that Maria 'created' a husband to cover the fact that the baby was born illegitimate, a stigma in those days.

Six more children followed -

- Clara Jane (1857-1928) Clara's surname at birth was Goldsmith, her birth was registered in Melbourne and the father listed as unknown. Clara's surname when she married Charles Roberts in 1874 was listed as Janes and Jabez is listed as her father on her death certificate.
- James George (born and died 1859). Registered at birth and death as Janes. Place of registration was Melbourne.
- Harry William (1861-1942) His birth was registered twice - under Goldsmith and under Janes. Place of registration was Melbourne. He married Mary Morrow in 1894. His marriage and death registrations were under Janes. His death certificate lists his birthplace as Labertouche Creek.
- Caroline (1863 - death date unknown) Surname at birth was Goldsmith, birth was registered at Williamstown and the father listed as unknown. I have no other information about her.
- Alfred Walter (1865-1947) Surname at birth was Goldsmith, father listed as unknown, birth registered at Melbourne. Married Marguerite Barry in 1891. His marriage and death registrations were under Janes.
- Emily Sarah (1867-1933) Birth registered under Janes at Emerald Hill (South Melbourne). Married Johan Erik Johanneson in 1887.

Jabez and Maria never married each other which given the stigma, as I said before, of having children out of wedlock was unusual. Possible reasons are that he was already married in England or she was actually married to John William Goldsmith and they separated, and she then took up with Jabez (in which case the shipping record I found belongs to another Mary Ann Goldsmith). I do not know, but I feel that he had already married in England.

Back to Jabez. His various interactions with the legal system were reported in the newspapers. The first we hear of him is in January 1859 when there was a report in The Argus about his insolvency. His occupation was listed as a carter and his address was North Melbourne. Jabez's estate was placed under sequestration which meant a Trustee was appointed to take charge of his estate, liquidate assets, and settle any debts. In the August, the court approved of the plan of distribution to settle his debts. Two years later in April 1861 his estate was placed under sequestration again. This time his occupation was listed as mail contractor and his address was Big Hill, which was a mining town south of Bendigo. He was discharged from the second insolvency in September 1862.

Jabez Janes advertised in The Age of December 7, 1864 of his intention to apply to the Dandenong Magistrates Court for a publican's licence for a house situated at Labertouche Creek, Gippsland Road. The premises were described as being constructed of lath and plaster, containing two sitting rooms, four bedrooms exclusive of those required by my family and it was to be known as the Diggers' Rest. He describes himself as a storekeeper in the application so was he already operating a store at Labertouche Creek and he wished to change it to a Hotel? It appears he wasn't granted the licence as he applied again in July 1865, this time to the Berwick Magistrates court for the same licence for Diggers' Rest. Labertouche Creek is north of Longwarry and runs into the Tarago River. It is interesting that his son, William Harry, born in 1861, believed he was born at Labertouche Creek, even though the family (or at least Jabez) were at Big Hill in 1860/1861.

In September 1865, Jabez was charged with careless driving in Collins Street injuring a woman named Margaret Bell. He was fined £10, appealed the decision, but the appeal was rejected.

In January 1866, Jabez was back in the newspapers again in the reports of an Inquest on the body of a man whose name is unknown, who was found dead in the bush, near the Wombat Creek, on the Gipps Land road. Jabez Janes, a publican, whilst engaged looking for a horse, saw the body of the deceased lying near a waterhole....The jury, in the absence of any direct evidence to show how the deceased met with his death, returned a verdict of found dead in the bush (The Leader, January 20, 1866)

On December 21, 1866, the following public notice appeared in The Argus -
I, JABEZ JANES, now residing at Cannibal Creek, do hereby give notice, that it is my intention to apply to the justices sitting at the Court of Petty Sessions, to be holden at Berwick on the 4th day of January next, for a CERTIFICATE authorising the issue of a BEER LICENCE in my house, of five rooms finished and others partly built, situated at Cannibal Creek, and unlicensed. Dated 15th day of December 1866. The location of his hotel was on the south side of Cannibal Creek, in the vicinity of Bassed Road, and was later the site of the Pig & Whistle Hotel.

However, less than a year later Jabez became insolvent again. This was reported in The Argus on September 21, 1867 - Causes of insolvency - Falling-off in business in consequence of Government changing the line of road between Cannibal and Shady Creeks, seizure of goods under execution, and losses by illness and by fire. Liabilities, £258 4s; assets, £66; deficiency, £192 4s. Jabez was discharged from the insolvency in February 1868. His insolvency must have resulted in his losing his licence to operate the hotel as in February 1870 he again applied to the Court at Berwick for a licence for a beer house at his property at Cannibal Creek.

In July 1870, he was charged with rape and remanded. At a hearing in the September he was discharged, as the Crown declined to go on with the case.

Later in 1870, Jabez was once more before the court, this time the Williamstown Court. Here is the report from The Argus of November 4, 1870. Mary Ann Goldsmith summoned Jabez Janes, a beer-seller at Cannibal's Creek, near Dandenong, for deserting his family. This was a distressing case. Both parties were advanced in life, and it appears that they had cohabited for a great number of years, and that the woman had borne him five children. The eldest was 15, and the youngest was three years old. Complainant stated that she left Cannibal's Creek on the 14th September, and brought the children to Williamstown, the defendant having left her and the children without support. Since their stay in Williamstown they had been getting relief from the Ladies' Benevolent Society. Janes admitted that the children were his, and that the complainant was their mother. He was unable to work through bad health, but he was willing to take charge of the two little boys, and a friend of his would provide for the youngest child. Their mother, however, refused to let them go. The Bench ordered the defendant to pay 20s. per week for the children's support and find one good surety in £20 for the payment of the money. As the man had neither money nor friends to assist him, he was sent to gaol.

The final newspaper report that I can find relating to Jabez was in September 1871, in the Williamstown Chronicle - Jabez Janes was summoned to show cause why the recognizance entered into by him on the 18th January in the sum of £20 to pay £1 weekly to the clerk of petty sessions, Williamstown, for the support of his illegitimate children, should not be adjudged forfeited and estreated. The arrears to the 2nd September amounted to £6. The Bench agreed to adjourn the case for fourteen days, to give the defendant an opportunity of paying the money in that time. Jabez either could not or did not take the 'opportunity' of paying the money he owed Maria for the support of his children as in December 1871 he was charged on warrant with deserting the family. This is the last we hear of Jabez.

Maria died at only 42 years of age on August 7, 1874 at the Benevolent Asylum in North Melbourne. Her death certificate lists her surname as Janes, said she was a domestic servant, widow with five children, was born in Kent and had been in Australia for 20 years. It also lists her father as Charles and her mother's name as Maria. It would have been devastating for the children to lose their mother, who obviously did all she could to keep her family together in the days when employment opportunities for women with children were scarce, childcare was non-existent, there was no supporting parents benefit and no financial report from the father. I really hope that the children had happy lives. I have found death notices for three of the children and Clara's death notice said that she was a loved mother; Harry was a loved husband and father and Alfred a loved husband, father, and fond uncle.

I cannot find a death record for Jabez, but if the statement on Maria's death certificate is correct, he had already passed away by 1874.
